Encouraging use of bicycles (Parking)

Bicycle parking also encourages stopping and spending at local businesses, and by encouraging more people to ride, makes cycling safer.

In transit deserts and neighborhoods with overcrowded housing, bicycle parking can make biking to transit, and biking in general, a viable choice.

Bicycle parking infrastructure, in addition to cyclists' equipment such as bicycle locks, offers a degree of security and may prevent bicycle theft.

Ad hoc bicycle parking alongside railings, signs, and other street furniture is a common practice and may be recognized through formal legal arrangements.
